Hilltop House, one of the penthouse duplexes in the Grand Floor Collection, offers stunning views of the mountains and the harbour

Situated in a tranquil green-belt zone, Homantin Hillside is a new low-density complex on Wai Yin Path that comes with stunning views of the city and the harbour. Those looking for something extra special can choose from the 12 units in the Grand Floor Collection, which includes four penthouse duplexes. Each unit comes in a different configuration, with unobstructed panoramic views.

And while every unit is unique, the jewel in the crown is Hilltop House—a 1,857sqft penthouse duplex with 270-degree mountain and sea views that was designed by Ed Ng, the co-founder and principal of the award-winning interior design firm AB Concept. Ng has more than 20 years' experience in luxury hospitality, residential and commercial interiors, and his expertise can be seen in the custom-made fixtures, matched with a subtle colour scheme that complements the sweeping views. The penthouse also includes a patio on the first floor and a spacious rooftop area with plenty of seating areas for the owners to soak in the views of the city.

A joint development between Wing Tai Asia and Nan Fung Group, Homantin Hillside also enlisted the help of architectural firm Arquitectonica, interior designers Yabu Pushelberg and landscape designer Andy Sturgeon. ■
